The Chairmen's RoundTable Announces Christopher Weil & Company, Inc.
as New Sponsor

- Both organizations believe in the power of mentorship -

San Diego, CA – April 17, 2006 – The Chairmen's RoundTable (CRT), a San Diego-based, non-profit volunteer organization that provides gratis business advice and mentorship to local, private businesses, today announced that Christopher Weil & Company, Inc., an NASD-SEC registered securities broker-dealer and registered investment advisor, has joined the CRT as a new sponsor.

"There are few businesses and people who would not benefit from mentorship or an expert outside perspective," said Christopher Weil, Chairman of Christopher Weil & Company, Inc. "I was recently introduced to the Chairmen's RoundTable and was very impressed with the work it is doing with local businesses, and quite frankly surprised that more companies are not taking advantage of this incredible service. I am pleased to be able to help spread the word and share this opportunity with my clients. People often ask if it's as good as it sounds, if it really is free and if there are any strings attached. The answers are yes, yes and no."

"We look for sponsors that share our belief in the power of mentorship," said Tom Dorosewicz, Chairman of the CRT. "The CRT members have successfully mentored over 150 local companies so we have seen first hand what mentorship can accomplish and also felt how rewarding it is to contribute to a company's achievements in this manner. It can be a priceless experience for everyone involved."
