The Chairmen's RoundTable Welcomes Regents Bank as Sponsor

- Organization renews focus on sponsors to advance mission -

San Diego, CA – June 27, 2005– The Chairmen's RoundTable (CRT), a non-profit volunteer organization that provides business advice and mentorship free of charge, today announced that Regents Bank, a community bank dedicated to serving small to mid-size businesses, has recently signed on as a CRT sponsor.

"Our goal is to be more than just a bank to our customers," said Dan Yates, president and CEO, Regents Bank. "We want to be a resource for their financial success. Part of that strategy is to team up with organizations that can offer support and guidance to our customers. The Chairmen's RoundTable provides invaluable mentorship to executives like those we serve. We are proud to sponsor the efforts of the CRT."

A key initiative of the CRT for 2005 has been a focus on sponsors to optimize their involvement. "We realize that to be most effective at advancing the mission of our organization, we need active participation of our sponsors," said Tom Dorosewicz, Chairman of the Chairmen's RoundTable. "To that end, we are working closely with our sponsors to get out the CRT message. We have also capped the sponsors at twenty so that we can build a meaningful partnership with each of them."

"Our sponsors, both new and existing, have been very supportive of the CRT this year and we anticipate mentoring more companies in 2005 than ever before. We expect Regents Bank to be a very active sponsor in generating clients for the CRT."

Additional sponsors that have come on board since late 2004 include: BBBS Inc., Judy Thompson & Associates, J.H. Cohn LLP, ESOP Services Incorporated, Duane Morris, HRG/Ki Investments, Westland Insurance Brokers, and KPMG.
